ARTIST STATEMENT

As liturgical artist and design director with the Greg Lewis Studios, a free-lance practice, I'm actively engaged in planning and creating permanent artworks for local, regional and national clients in publishing, architecture, interior design, health care and liturgical environments. In addition to my 44+ year contemporary art & design career, I've taught art studios courses at Concordia University - Portland for 22 years and have co-founded the library's Art & Culture Program and have led art and architecture tours to London and Paris. I hold an AAS degree in Commercial Art and a BS degree in Visual Communications Education from Western Washington University in Bellingham, Washington. I take a multi-use approach to my art and design décor furnishings. A simple drawing or sketch becomes a painted mural, bronze sculpture, giclee print, stained glass window, and a folding screen. "My goal has always been to create contemporary artworks that would challenge the viewer, as well as touch the human spirit."
